

workshops.

Why not propose a similar effort as a world conference of antisystemic movements to formulate similar organizational and practical programs? This would require abandoning one of the key points of Wagar's proposal (One Party and Only One Party!), but that would be real progress.

[Page 5]

Journal of World-Systems Research