Volume 25(1) of the Journal of World-Systems Research initially included a review by Jeb Sprague of Marion Werner's Global Displacements: The Making of Uneven Development in the Caribbean. Because the book review editor decided it would be better suited for inclusion in a proposed review symposium, she removed the review from the website, with the idea that it would run in a future issue. This was done in error, since by the time the decision was made to reschedule the review, it had already been published in the first issue of volume 25. Accordingly, a slightly revised version of the review has been restored to its original publication site. The book review editor regrets the mistake and apologizes for the confusion.
